ANN M. DONNELLY, United States District Judge:

On September 6, 2024, the pro se plaintiff, who is currently incarcerated at the Nassau County Correctional Center, filed this action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. (ECF No. 1.) On October 4, 2024, the plaintiff filed an application to proceed in forma pauperis. (ECF No. 6.) The plaintiff’s application to proceed in forma pauperis pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a) is granted. For the following reasons, the complaint is dismissed with leave to file an amended complaint.

BACKGROUND

The plaintiff alleges that on July 28, 2024, he “slipped and fell on some water from a cell sink that was broken . . . while trying to use the phone on the tier.” (ECF No. 1 at 3.) He further alleges that he “sustained injuries to [his] neck and back” and “was sent to the medical clinic” and “then brought to NUMC hospital.” (Id. at 4.) The plaintiff seeks unspecified damages against a single named defendant.¹ (Id. at 5.)

LEGAL STANDARD

In general, a complaint must plead “enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007). A claim is plausible “when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Matson v. Bd. of Educ., 631 F.3d 57, 63 (2d Cir. 2011).

The pleadings of pro se plaintiffs are held “to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers.” Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007); see also Harris v. Mills, 572 F.3d 66, 72 (2d Cir. 2009) (noting that after Twombly, the court “remain[s] obligated to construe a pro se complaint liberally”). Nonetheless, the Prison Litigation Reform Act requires a district court to screen any civil complaint brought by an incarcerated person against a governmental entity or its agents and to dismiss the complaint, or any portion of the complaint, if the complaint is “frivolous, malicious, or fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.” 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b)(1). Similarly, a district court must dismiss an in forma pauperis action if the action: (i) “is frivolous or malicious, (ii) fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted; or (iii) seeks monetary relief against a defendant who is immune from such relief,” see id. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(i)-(iii).

DISCUSSION

This action is brought pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983, which “provides ‘a method for vindicating federal rights elsewhere conferred,’ including under the Constitution.” Cornejo v. Bell, 592 F.3d 121, 127 (2d Cir. 2010) (quoting Baker v. McCollan, 443 U.S. 137, 144 n.3 (1979)). To state a claim under section 1983, “[t]he conduct at issue ‘must have been committed by a person acting under color of state law’ and ‘must have deprived a person of rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States.’” Id. (quoting Pitchell v. Callan, 13 F.3d 545, 547 (2d Cir. 1994)).

The plaintiff’s slip and fall claim sounds in negligence, which does not form the basis for a constitutional violation under either the Eighth Amendment or the Fourteenth Amendment.² See Taylor v. NYCDOC, 19-CV-4874, 2020 WL 4738270, at *2 (E.D.N.Y. Aug. 12, 2020); Kingsley v. Hendrickson, 576 U.S. 389, 396 (2015) (“[L]iability for negligently inflicted harm is categorically beneath the threshold of constitutional due process.” (emphasis in original) (quoting Cnty. of Sacramento v. Lewis, 523 U.S. 833, 849 (1998)); Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 836 (1994) (holding that a constitutional violation of the Eighth Amendment based on conditions of confinement “entails something more than mere negligence”). Indeed, “[c]ourts have regularly held, . . . that a wet or slippery floor does not pose an objectively excessive risk to prisoners.” Johnson v. New York City Dep’t of Correction, No. 10-CV-338, 2010 WL 2426017, at *1 (E.D.N.Y. June 11, 2010). Therefore, the plaintiff’s allegation that he slipped and fell on a wet floor does state a claim on which relief can be granted.

Furthermore, in order to recover damages against an individual defendant under section 1983, the plaintiff must allege that the defendant was directly or personally involved in the claimed constitutional deprivation. Farid v. Ellen, 593 F.3d 233, 249 (2d Cir. 2010). The plaintiff does not allege that the Nassau County Sheriff was personally involved with, had knowledge of or responsibility for the claimed constitutional injury. Accordingly, his claim fails as a matter of law. Sealey v. Giltner, 116 F.3d 47, 51 (2d Cir. 1997); see also Johnson v. Barney, 360 F. App’x 199, 201 (2d Cir. 2010) (summary order); Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 676 (2009) (“Because vicarious liability is inapplicable to . . . § 1983 suits, a plaintiff must plead that each Government-official defendant, through the official's own individual actions, has violated the Constitution.").

CONCLUSION

Accordingly, the complaint is dismissed for failure to state a claim. 28 U.S.C. §§ 1915A(b) and 1915(e)(2)(B).

In light of the plaintiff's pro se status, the Court grants the plaintiff leave to file an amended complaint within 30 days from the entry date of this Order. The plaintiff must provide facts to show what each named defendant did or did not do that violated his constitutional rights, including the dates and locations for each relevant event. The amended complaint will replace the original complaint. That is, the amended complaint must stand on its own without reference to the original complaint. The amended complaint must be captioned as an "Amended Complaint" and bear the same docket number as this Order: 2:24-CV-6535 (AMD) (ST).

If the plaintiff does not file an amended complaint within 30 days or fails to show good cause for an extension of time, the Court will direct the Clerk of Court to enter judgment and close this case. The Clerk of Court is respectfully requested to send a copy of this Order to the plaintiff along with a prisoner's civil rights complaint form, and to note the mailing on the docket.

The Court certifies pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3) that any appeal from this Order would not be taken in good faith and therefore in forma pauperis status is denied for the purpose of an appeal. Coppedge v. United States, 369 U.S. 438, 444–45 (1962).

SO ORDERED.
